Kath Bloom to Perform in North Country Concerts

Atí:ron Productions presents singer/songwriter Kath Bloom in two North Country concert appearances in late August. The first appearance will be at Bluseed Studios in Saranac Lake, NY on Friday, August 28. The following night, Saturday, August 29, she will perform at forARTSake in Malone, NY.

Kath Bloom is a legend of folk, country, blues, and avant-garde music. A native of New Haven, CT and the daughter of renowned oboist Robert Bloom, she has been making records since the 1970s. She is perhaps best known for her song, "Come Here", which was featured in the 1995 film "Before Sunrise", directed by Richard Linklater and starring Ethan Hawke.

Most recently, she has had a series of albums released by Chapter Music in Australia, including a new album of her own songs and a tribute album of her music performed by a cadre of musicians who are well-known on the current international avant/folk/rock songwriter scene.

Her mostly-acoustic recent album of new songs, "Terror", features backing work by longtime Bloom cohorts Stan Bronski on upright bass and mandolin and Tom Hanford on violin.

Her song, "The Breeze/My Baby Cries", performed by Bill Callahan and taken from the CD, "Loving Takes This Course: A Tribute to the Songs of Kath Bloom", was recently featured as an NPR Song of the Day.

Appearing as openers will be Eddy & Kim Lawrence, a North Country based acoustic-roots duo, whose performances feature Eddy's detailed, descriptive, and frequently humorous lyrics backed by his fluid guitar, mandolin, and resonator guitar work and Kim's solid upright bass playing. The couple's most recent CD release, My Second Wife's First Album, is the ninth of Eddy's critically acclaimed albums of original songs. They appear regularly at venues across the North Country.

forARTSake is located at 393 Main Street in Malone, NY. Bluseed Studios is at 24 Cedar Street in Saranac Lake, NY. Showtimes are at 7:30 each evening, with doors opening at 7:00.
